The Woodstock Public Library is looking for youth volunteers age 12 to 17 years to help out with the Reading Crew Program. This is a fun interactive drop in program for kids age 4-10 years where they can practice their reading skills, share their book reports and play reading games.

If you can volunteer 2 or more hours a week throughout July and August and enjoy interacting with young children then fill out the attached application and return it to the Children's Department by Monday, June 19. Successful volunteer applicants will be contacted by children's staff and invited to one of our orientation training sessions listed below.

During orientation, volunteers will be asked to choose one or more of the daily drop in sessions and the weeks throughout July and August that best suits their vacation schedule. If you are 15 years or younger, your application must be signed by your parent/guardian. The Library gives community service credit for students who will be attending high school as of September 2017.
